JUNE 2009 NEWSLETTER

UPCOMING JUNE TALK:

Our next talk will be Thursday the 25th of June at the Officers Mess of the Cape Town Highlanders Regt inside the Castle of Good Hope.

SHOW AND TELL

CAME AND GONE...

The following talk will be held on Thursday the 30th of July.

CHAIRMAN:

I am nearly given to state "If you can keep your head amidst all this confusion, then you don't understand the situation at all!"

THE BIGGEST NEWS TODAY IS THAT SA HUNT & NAACCSA (Collecting umbrella body) WON THE COURT CASE AGAINST THE SAPS CFR FOR A TEMPORARY RELIEF PENDING THE MAIN CASE YET TO BE BROUGHT! ...against all odds!

Judge Prinsloo today granted an interim interdict to SAHGCA declaring that firearm licences obtained under the old Arms and Ammunition Act will be deemed valid till the full application have been heard regarding their plea that certain sections of the FCA 60 of 2000 should be declared unconstitutional. SAHGCA has argued that Schedule 1 of the FCA 60 of 2000 attending to the transitional arrangements is unreasonable, infringes on the rights of firearm owners and is unconstitutional.

IN PRACTICE this means that SAP539 "Permission To Store" remains valid and that those who did not apply to be relicensed does not have to hand in their firearms before the end of June 2009. They have until the court have ruled on the full application yet to be heard to sell their firearms.

We will circulate the full press release from the NAACCSA chairman's desk as soon as it becomes available.

Amidst the euphoria, ignorant folk could easily come to the wrong conclusion that the FCA will be scrapped. The FCA of 2007 has already been approved by the Parliament only requiring to be promulgated by the State President with the Regulations imminently in the wings which addresses various other issues not addressed in the FCA 60 of 2000.

NAACCSA undertook to directly address various remaining unresolved issues with Dir Bothma.

The most pressing being;

- The issue regarding folk owning actions not previously required to have been licensed.
- Percussion firearms and cap & ball revolvers as the promulgation of the Regulations of the FCB of 2007 appears to imminent.
- How only actions/receivers are to be dealt with.
- The request that Sect 21 allow BUYERS to obtain permission for "Safe Storage" whilst waiting for their new licences to be approved.
- Ammunition Collectors

AMMUNITION COLLECTORS:

This is an issue that has not yet been formulated properly by the SAPS due to uncertainty in the FCA 60 of 2000 on the matter, but presents a problem for any ammunition collector after the end of June 2009 when all existing permits expire. On an urgent NAACCSA teleconference Saturday evening the 21st of July Adv John Welch advised all that they should advise their members who were Bona Fide Ammunition Collectors under the old Act (as in possession of a SAPS Ammunition Collecting Certificate), to at least submit an application to the SAPS CFR DFO to be considered as a ammunition collector BEFORE the 30th of June 2009 ☺ pending them receiving supporting documentation from their accredited association. (This being a policy matter that still requires to be clarified by the SAPS CFR) Simply complete/submit a SAP 520 and insist that your DFO take receipt of it AND give you acknowledgement that you did so. Then contact the Chairman to submit an application to CAPE SAAACA to be declared a private collector. We will arrange a dedicated workshop for this in July.

DISPOSAL OF FIREARMS IN INSOLVENT OR DECEASED ESTATES: FCA 60 of 2000.

Dir Bothma previously ruled that Executors may not store such firearms and that it had to be handed in to the SAPS S13. Circular 19/5/4 now confirms that Section 147(2) of the Act allows the Executor to store such firearms and ammunition. Furthermore, should the person who inherits the firearm wishes to keep the firearm, they may apply in terms of Section 21 of the Act for a temporary permission to possess (SAP518) or even to use. Contact Senior Sup Solocota at the WC SAPS CFR on 021-950 1373.

FIREARMS FORUM MEETING WITH DIR BOTHMA REGARDING END JUNE ISSUES:

The only constructive result that came from this meeting were the Section 21 concession to Sellers to apply for temporary permission to possess a firearm awaiting the Buyers' license application.

From that SAHNCA decided to bring the court action as explained above.

As the Chairman has explained at the May meeting at the Castle, it is fruitless circulating notices on interim un finalised matters, as it only causes confusion. He stated that we should only act on facts and not speculation. He would immediately inform members through a special interim newsletter should any news break that would effect collectors persé.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE:

FIRE RELICENCING:

The Membership Committee are still flooded with pending last minute applications to accommodate as many collectors as possible. Workshops has been held on a regular basis to assist those struggling to draft valid submissions to be considered as categorised Private Collectors. The main problem apparently being that most of those appear to own a random collection of firearms that they struggle to fit into any valid Field of Interest, or demonstrate that they in fact are dedicated Private Collectors as the FCA requires. It is well understood that most of us came from that premises having to migrate from being an unstructured accumulator into a Private Collector with a clear Field of Interest. The Workshops were designed to assist novices to understand what were required and how to go about it.

A new administrative decision regarding the processing of applications has been made.

Applicants as well as the Membership Committee has only two weeks in which to respond on a submission or reply. Applications that exceed that will be considered as being dormant and be sent back to the applicant to be resubmitted from new. Equally so, if the Membership Committee takes longer than that, the Member may approach the Chairman with a request to expedite the matter if no reasonable grounds for such delay were given to the Applicant. The reason being that the parties loose cohesive insight into the subject matter and the applications becomes protracted with frustration all round.

NOTES FROM OUR WEBMASTER WOUTER DE WAAL:

Introduction to our new website.

If you point your browser to <http://www.capesaaaca.co.za/> you will see the Cape SAAACA introductory page, with a row of buttons down the left side and a set of tabs across the top. The buttons will select an area of the website, and in some cases the tabs will provide a second-level index.

[Home] The Home button will return you to the home page, i.e. the page you see when first accessing the site. The relevant tabs are Introduction, Secretariats, Events Diary and Membership.

The Events Diary needs a bit of an explanation. You will see that the current date is in bold, while dates when events are scheduled are highlighted in brown. Clicking on the date will bring up a description of the event(s) scheduled for that day.

Please submit event dates to the webmaster for inclusion in the calendar.

[Newsletters] Self explanatory, with the tabs selecting older archives.

[Archives] Again, self explanatory, please submit articles for the archives to the webmaster.

[Forum] and [Trading Post] These two buttons take you to a different website, namely forum.capesaaaca.co.za. There you will find a discussion forum with a classified advertisement section. More on this later. THIS IS WHERE MEMBERS CAN PUBLISH REQUESTS FOR INFORMATION OR TOPICS ON WHICH OTHER MEMBERS CAN RESPOND AND SHARE INFORMATION.

[Information] Not much here yet. Think of it as work in progress. And search Wiki for "Lorem Ipsum" if you're curious.

[Shoppe] In future, we hope to have a web-shop here, selling Cape SAAACA branded gear.

[Links] Links to websites, categorised using the tabs. Submit sites of interest to the webmaster.

More on the Forum and Trading Post.

The forum uses public domain software (phpBB2) which gives members the ability to interact at various levels.

Someone who is not registered on the site can only read the General section. If you want access to the other sections, you need to register. To do this you need the "Register" link on the top right hand side of the page.

Important: To maintain standards, I will only be approving the membership of known Cape SAAACA members. This means I need to know who you are. Specifically, fill in your Cape SAAACA membership number, and pick a username that can help other members match your forum profile to your face at the meetings.

I realise that the public nature of websites means that you don't want to put too much information "out there", the good news is that this software does help protect your anonymity. Only members can see other members' details, and you can decide whether you want your email address shown to other members. You have to select "(*) Always show my email address" when registering, the default is to not give your email address out.

Once you've registered, and I've approved your membership (this might take a few days, email me if you think I've forgotten about you) you can access the member list to check how much information about you is being displayed, let me know if you feel it's too much.

Anyway, once you're registered you will see more sections in addition to "General". Please let me know which sections you want, and I will add them.

Trading Post.

At the top of the page, you will see a link to "Firearm Classified Ads". Anyone in the whole wide world can read this (that is after all the point) but only members can post. Also, you can only be contacted by members, via the website, or via any contact details that you supply. If you list your phone number or home address in the body of an advert, the whole world will be able to see it. In this way, you control your own privacy.

Hint : upload pictures, it gives your advert a lot more presence.

To get back to the Cape SAAACA website, click on the logo in the top left hand corner.

Bottom Line.

The website, specifically the Forum and Trading Post, is set up to allow members to contribute. You, every one of you, are responsible for the content. So get out there and post articles of interest, and you know where to find me if you need help -- at webmaster@capesaaaca.co.za

CAPE SAAACA SHOOTING DISCIPLINES:

While we as collectors learn a lot from historical records about our collections, shooting them teaches us what was possible and how they performed. That certainly opens new insights around our interest fields.

Our shoots increasingly are becoming popular and we hope to attract enough attention in the various categories to facilitate a competitive level as well.

1. Muzzle loading firearms (Pistol and rifle)
2. Bolt action rifles and revolvers
3. Semi-auto assault rifles and pistols.

COME AND TRY YOUR HAND WITH THAT CHERISHED PIECE IN YOUR SAFE THAT LONGS TO HEAR ITSELF ONCE AGAIN COME ALIVE FOR WHAT IT WAS MANUFACTURED FOR, AND TO SHARE IT AT A SHOW AND TELL MEETING WITH FELLOW COLLECTORS!

FUTURE SHOOTS:

DATE: 1st Saturday July
TIME: 09H30 for 10H00.
VENUE: Range 3 (In front of Club house) at the NSADF Range at ATLANTIS on the R307
(If in doubt, enquire at Clubhouse)
RANGE OFFICERS: Stephan Fourie
Graeme Smith RO in charge
Francois du Toit (Safety)
COSTS: R20,00

Shoots at Atlantis can unfortunately only be booked quarterly in advance.

The next NSADF Atlantis Range Booking date is 14 July 2009 for the subsequent quarter.

Under real conditions one was under pressure to shoot as you were and normally enemy contacts happened at short distances. Out shooting details are designed to emulate that for the various firearm types, although we have the "enemy's" (paper targets) permission to allow a somewhat more relaxed time-span to allow all the "old soldiers" to get their breath and to get our shaky watery eyes on target. So for those who believe in reincarnation for firearms, I dare you to dust off your old pieces and give them a second wind to show what they did when they were young, bold and in uniform! It also serves as an ideal opportunity to introduce a novice to collecting, possibly your own son or the neighbours'?

IT'S FUN AND IT SMELLS OF CORDITE!

Minutes of the Castle Talks held 28th of May 2009:

The meeting started, well attended by over 30 members and guests, despite heavy rain – and those attending were pleasantly surprised when they found on arrival an exhibition of replica "Air Soft" firearms dating from WW2 until the present – provided by Herbie Johnson. These "weapons" are all fullscale and are rounded off in either plastic or metal/wood construction and were it not for it's "Made in Taiwan" label on the sides not many would be able to tell the difference between the replica and the real thing! Even the working parts were for the most part accurate and in working order – except where being interfered by BB features, and with a possible price tag of about R2 000,00 a piece – perhaps a worthwhile investment for those collectors not being able to obtain the real McCoy!

The Chairman opened the meeting by welcoming new members and guests then gave an opportunity to new members and guests to introduce themselves and relate their interests.

Among them were Mike Madlener who has a collection of some 15 firearms, Mike Reitz whose interest is mainly the Boer War era, Bruce Kirby whose got a Lee-Enfield, Mike McCready who specialises in WW2 era weapons, Gareth Bell who loves all firearms, especially Smith & Wesson handguns, etc, Neil Rautenbach who is interested in hunting rifles and handguns and Herbie Johnson, an ex-SAP Taskforce member, who loves WW2 firearms and guns and anything Border War related, and are busy opening a gunshop in partnership with Henk Mulder in Stikland, Bellville.

The “Show and Tell” part of the evening started with Mike Madlener who brought a 3” (75 mm) black power grenade dating from the Napoleonic area. It had its ring and powder missing but was otherwise still in good condition. Detail about this grenade is vague - so if any member can provide more information about this item it will be welcomed. It possibly could have been intended for Navy use.

Mike also provided a “Sergeant’s Tool” – a brass tool with a swivel mirror attached at the one end for inspecting rifle barrels. It dates from the pre-WW2 era.

A detonator (deactivated) for a modern gun was also passed around.

Next was Arnold Beneke who provided a L42A1 Lee-Enfield sniper rifle – nowadays used for target shooting such as the military Bisley competitions. This particular weapon dates from the early 1970’s and was converted to 7,62mm calibre from .303” Mk 4 in 1973 by the Stirling Co. The trigger and 10-round box magazine was also adapted to fit the new rimless ammunition. The fixed sights were also converted from the original .303, a cheek rest was added to the butt and the forestock cut back to fit the new heavy target barrel. The WW2-era No. 32 Mk 3 telescopic sight and its mounting over the receiver were retained and used by the British Army and Royal Marines as a sniping rifle during the Falklands war and also remains as one of the best sniping rifles to this day.

Paul Brown brought in a selection of drill rounds and inert cartridges manufactured for use in a variety of anti-tank rifles. The AT rifle made its very first appearance in 1918 during WW1 with the introduction of the 13 mm AT Mauser to combat the first tanks used by the British. This 913 mps cartridge impressed the Americans so much that Browning was immediately commissioned to develop a weapon with equally impressive ballistics, not necessarily for use in an AT capacity. So the .50" (12,7 mm) Browning was born – but just too late to be used in WW1.

By the mid 1930's a variety of AT rifles, in increasing calibre sizes were being developed, each successive model designed to defeat the ever-increasing strength and thickness of armour plate. However, none could hope to penetrate more than about one-and-a-half calibres of plate and AT rifles were soon rendered obsolete, some of them entering service but immediately discarded as ineffective. From the birth of the first 13 mm to the death of the last 2,0 cm monster, a short space of only 28 years had elapsed. A collector of such weapons could conceivably house his entire collection, assuming he acquired one specimen of every model ever manufactured, in the smallest room of his house.

The Boys .55" Mk 1 and Mk 2 was developed in the mid 1930's and these weapons upped the performance stakes with a muzzle velocity of 990 mps. It is interesting to note that the Boys and Browning cartridges are very similar at first glance – which might be confusing for those who are not cartridge collectors. (The easily recognisable difference is the belted base of the Boys round. Belted cartridge cases are rare in military weapons and are used where immense strength is required in order to withstand high internal pressures when firing.)

The monster of all AT rifle cartridges was the belted 2,0 cm Solothurn. This cartridge was originally designed by the Swiss, using the Erhardt 2,0 cm cannon of WW1 as their starting point. The Germans borrowed the cartridge for use in their Panzerbüchse S18-1000\1100, a gigantic semi-automatic, shoulder-fired weapon on a bipod, weighing-in at 54kgs, with an overall length of 2 108 mm. Like all the big AT rifles, this weapon needed 3 people to carry/operate it, and this defeated the original concept of an effective weapon which could easily be deployed at the sharp end of a battlefield in support of front-line soldiers. The Ehrhardt gun in its final form battled on through WW2 as a variety of guns for different purposes which illustrates its versatility: as an anti-aircraft gun (2,0 cm Flak 30), an anti-tank gun (2,0 cm MK S-18-1000) and an aircraft gun (3,0 cm MK 101 and 103).

Last on the “Show and Tell” was Pieter van Wyk who brought a .44 Ruger Redhawk double action revolver which he considers to be a well worth investment considering it’s ruggedness, reliability, accuracy and hard-hitting features.

The .44 Redhawk first appeared in 1979, designed by Bill Ruger of the Sturm, Ruger and Co. and was described as very accurate and robust and a winning formula considering strength, economy and functionality. One of it’s predecessors in double-action was the S&W Model 29, made famous by Clint Eastwood in the “Dirty Harry” movies – so the Redhawk caused quite a stir when it first appeared on the market.

Pieter proudly remarked that he was probably one of the first owners of the Redhawk when it became available in South Africa. He paid R840-00 for it in those days and had to wait a “long” 8 days then to obtain his licence!

The Redhawk embodies many advanced features such as “triple-locking” cylinder, a unique “single spring” mechanism for relatively lighter trigger pull, easily replaceable front and adjustable rear sights, and all-stainless steel construction. It weights almost 1,5 kg and is entirely manufactured from 410 series stainless steel. Pieter’s version also features a 7½” (191 mm) barrel. Pieter also states “ Having used this gun quite extensively over the years for target and falling plate shooting I can only state that up to this day it more than lived up to the qualities ascribed to it by several gun scribes during the time of it’s introduction to the public.”

The Chairman envisaged that exhibitions of the nature of the replica guns and other exhibitions from our accredited Dealers should become a common future occurrence during meetings. Currently Cape SAACA consists of about 100 members and 150 non-associates and members should support the dealers in working towards mutual beneficial networking as no firearm owner could exist if there was no Firearm dealers. Dealers could perhaps display a certain subject/topic per evening to make it more interesting. Combined with this members should reciprocate with complementary displays. This would be excellent practice towards a fully fledged Arms fair of our own.

Pierre proposed that the Secunda Room in the Castle could perhaps be better suited as it offered more space and that he will investigate the matter. Johan van den Berg also reminded everyone that Fort Vineyard next to the new Green Point stadium could also be considered for future large exhibitions depending on the outcome of the possible formation of an Section 21 Company to manage the Fort. Arnold then mentioned that since he is a member of Ft Vineyard he could be of assistance to that.

Various problems regarding the cut-off date for new fire-arm applications and hand in of unlicensed weapons at the end of June were also discussed. It must be noted that this regards new applications only and re-licencing of existing licences are not effected.

All outstanding relicensing will remain valid until new licences are issued provided that the applications were send in time. Expiring dates will not effect the above point. It was stressed that people should at all times when packing a gun, carry their old license along with the SAP 523 proof of license submission.

The problem facing anyone who to date applied for a new license and whose license has not been approved yet, is that the firearm will have to be handed in to the SAP 13 Store for safe keeping pending the outcome of the license application. Alternatively the SAPS CFR has decreed that the Seller may apply for a temporary permission to possess from a S/Sup or higher rank officer, who may then “only store” it pending the outcome of said license application. Another alternative only applicable to someone who has not yet applied for a new license is to have the seller transfer the weapon to a dealer to be placed on his Dealer Code, with the “buyer” later at his leisure buying the firearms then from the Dealer.

The reality is that the police has also not got enough and proper facilities to store any of these weapons – not even the Defence Force has got enough facilities and the aim of the law and the Police is to destroy as many of these weapons as possible. All weapons confiscated by the police will be dumped in metal trunks where they could be damaged – and no proper facilities exist in their store rooms for climate control etc. Also weapons awaiting licencing could be mixed up with other confiscated weapons – and as no proper control are being exercised by the police chances are good that many weapons will simply “dissappear”. Apparently the police has “lost” about 4 000 weapons of their own over the last few years!.

The Chairman lastly announced that despite the various current problems he still remains optimistic about the future for arms collectors and he reminded everyone to stick to facts and not being carried away by rumours or speculations. Any new facts that has any effect on the current situation will immediately be sent out by special newsletters to the members.

The rest of the evening's entertainment was provided by firing the BB replica guns at a safety target which caused for much fun and further lively discussions about technicalities, etc. until late!

Western Shooters:

“Run low pardner and swerve from side to side.. cause mamma’s got a six gun and she’s spoilin to use it!”

A lady shooter, shooting in the “modern” adjustable-sights category.

Cowboy Action Shooting is the fastest growing shooting sport in the world. Thousands of people participate in this sport world-wide. The simple fact is it's a non-professional sport, geared for fun to be enjoyed by the whole family. We shoot according to SASS (Single Action Shooting Society) rules.

THIS MONTHS SHOOT

This month's shoot went well. Attendance was very good. Firearm licenses seem to be coming through as more and more Cowboy shooters are arriving with the appropriate firearms and some with extra's for others to shoot with.

Our range now has a lockable target 'shed' right next to where we shoot for storing our steel targets, which we usually had to carry to and from the range. We have had some 'Cacti' made to give our range a more Western feel. Our 'horse', a large steel drum with a saddle mounted on it and with a rifle scabbard, has gotten a head. (Now it just needs a tail.)

If you feel that this Shooting Sport might appeal to you, please feel free to contact us through our web-site www.westernshooters.co.za or just pop in at the False Bay shooting range every 3rd Saturday of every month. (Directions can be found via our website.)
